Policy on Drug Use and Testing

Administration of any drug of any kind or description internally or externally is prohibited, except for treating a recognized disease or injury as prescribed by a licensed veterinarian. For the purpose of these rules, the term “drug” shall mean any substance, the sale, possession or use of which is controlled by license under federal, state or local laws or regulations and any substance commonly used by the medical or veterinary professions which affect the circulatory, respiratory, or central nervous systems of any animal. The use of any diuretic, tranquilizers or anti-inflammatory drugs for any purpose whatsoever on any animal in the show is prohibited. Show management reserves the right to take blood, milk, tissue and/or urine samples for analysis. Any animal entered is subject to testing.

The administration of any drug of any kind or description internally or externally for the treatment of a disease or injury must be done in accordance with regulations established by the United States Food and Drug Administration.

Any animal exhibited in a market or breeding class being treated with a prescription or over-the-counter medication (the use of any diuretic, tranquilizers or anti-inflammatory drugs for any purpose whatsoever on any animal in the show is prohibited) that has not completed its recommended withdrawal time must be accompanied by an original, complete veterinary prescription. This prescription must be provided to management upon request at any time during the show and will be required at the time of residue testing if that animal is selected. The prescribed medication(s) must be approved for the use on the treated animal.

The exhibitor shall be the absolute insurer of and shall be responsible for the condition of the animal(s) exhibited, regardless of the acts of a third party. Extent of knowledge on the part of the exhibitor with regards to the drugs or substance found in an animal is not relevant to any issue, and it shall not be a defense that person or persons unknown introduced the prescribed substance into the animal prior to, or at arrival on the show grounds.

Should testing and inspection procedures used by the show evidence the presence of a foreign substance or drug that exceed established tolerance levels, is not medically necessary or not approved for such use by the Food and Drug Administration or United States Department of Agriculture, the exhibitor, a member of the exhibitor’s family or any other person shown to have had care, custody, or attendance of the animal in any way, at the discretion of show management, may be subjected to the penalties provided for in these rules. Following investigation by the appropriate agencies, the exhibitor is subject to the following penalties at the discretion of show management:

The exhibitor will be banned from competing at future livestock competitions for all species at the Georgia National Junior Livestock Show and the Georgia National Fair for twelve (12) months or one complete show year (whichever is greater) from rule infraction.

After the twelve (12) month or one complete show year (whichever is greater) suspension has been completed, the exhibitor will then be placed on probation for twenty-four (24) months or two show years (whichever is greater). During this probation period, management reserves the right to residue test any/all entries of the individual on probation that are entered at either the Georgia National Junior Livestock Show and/or the Georgia National Fair. The exhibitor is responsible for full payment of costs incurred for any positive samples. Residue tests will be sent to a laboratory of show management’s choice.

If, at any time following the first ban, any market animal shown by that exhibitor tests positive for any residues, the exhibitor will be banned from the Georgia National Junior Livestock Show and the Georgia National Fair for the exhibitor’s junior show career.

If, at any time following the first ban, any breeding animal shown by that exhibitor tests positive for any unapproved drugs, prohibited drugs or drugs that are not under the prescription of a licensed veterinarian, the exhibitor will be banned from the Georgia National Junior Livestock Show and the Georgia National Fair for the exhibitor’s junior show career.

Every exhibitor that participates in any of the Georgia 4-H and Georgia FFA State Livestock Shows are subject to residue testing. When an exhibitor’s animal is selected to residue test, the exhibitor is required to maintain possession of the tested animal until the exhibitor is notified by the organization of the final results of residue testing before selling or processing the animal.

All Grand and Reserve Champions will be required to participate in the residue testing program.

Refusal to submit animals for testing or cooperate in completion of minimum testing requirements will result in disqualification and subject the exhibitor to the same penalties provided for exhibitors whose animals test positive for drugs.

HEALTH REQUIREMENTS FOR EXHIBITION OF LIVESTOCK IN GEORGIA

 Note: These rules were current as of April 22, 2020. State Health Regulations are under review and may change before the show. Check Georgia Department of Agriculture, Animal Health Webpage (<http://agr.georgia.gov/animal-health.aspx>) for current intrastate health requirements.

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS:

- No livestock will be allowed entry onto the show grounds with visible warts or visible ringworm lesions.
- Livestock may be inspected at the show facility for infectious and contagious diseases and those suspected of having disease will be removed from the show facility. Failure to remove suspect animals from the show facility will result in disqualification of all the exhibitor's entries.

CERTIFICATE OF VETERINARY INSPECTION REQUIREMENTS:

All animals being exhibited in any type of livestock show (local, county, area, district, or state) must have an official certificate of veterinary inspection (health certificate). The Certificate of Veterinary Inspection must be issued within 30 days of the exhibition with the following exceptions:

Market sheep and market goat wethers are not required to be officially identified for exhibition but are required to have an owner applied ear tag to be recorded on the certificate of veterinary inspection. In addition, all market animals must either be consigned directly to slaughter with no animals from the show grounds returning to a farm, or be consigned to another market show with confinement at the original show facility until movement. If market animals will be returning to a farm or if show management requires such, all animals on the show grounds must have proper certificates of veterinary inspection and must satisfy the appropriate test and identification requirements described below in the section "Farm Animal Livestock Requirements".

4. Georgia equine participating in Georgia equine shows will not require a certificate of veterinary inspection. (See complete equine requirements described below.)

Swine Herdsman Awards - These awards will be given to the top club/chapter evaluated by an independent committee. Refer to the forms enclosed for more detailed information. LOAD OUT – Hogs may be loaded out at the ends of the barn once they have completed showing. The mechanical loading chute on the east side of Sheep/Swine 1 may not be used while the show is in progress and no semi-trailers may be loaded until after all other pigs have been loaded out of the barn.

Georgia Bred Program – The Georgia Junior Swine Boosters will sponsor a Georgia Bred Program. Rules and entry forms can be downloaded at www.gjsb.org.
