Introduction to 4-H
I Pledge... My Head, Heart, Hands and Health
Welcome to Georgia 4-H!

I’m Arch the Dawg, and we are glad to have you as a part of the University of Georgia’s youngest students. You have many great opportunities ahead in Georgia 4-H, so let's get started as you learn to pledge your Head, Heart, Hands and Health to your Club, Community, Country and World! In 2014, we celebrated the 100th Anniversary of the Smith-Lever Act. Look for good, descriptive text in the pages ahead to help you learn why this was an important celebration. Our journey together will help you learn that through 4-H we can “Make the Best Better.” Congratulations on the beginning of a terrific experience!

When most of Georgia was farmland and most Georgians made their living on the farm, Mr. G.C. Adams, school superintendent in Newton County, dreamed of a place for young boys to learn all they needed to about their future career in farming.

To help his students prepare for the future, Mr. Adams began the first Georgia Boys Corn Clubs in 1904. In this early club, boys planted and cared for their crop, and exhibited it in the fair.

Just southeast of Newton County, another milestone in Georgia 4-H history was growing. Like the boys in Newton County, the girls of Hancock County wanted an opportunity to be part of an educational club and thus the Girls Tomato Canning Club began in 1908. The girls grew tomatoes in their family vegetable gardens and canned them for competition.

Soon boys and girls all over Georgia were joining corn and tomato canning clubs and the beginning of what we now call Georgia 4-H was on its way!

As a result of innovative methods learned through the Boys Corn Clubs and Girls Tomato Canning Clubs, the corn and tomato yield increased for families.

In 1914, an important event in our nation’s history happened: Congress passed the Smith-Lever Act, which established the Cooperative Extension Service. Cooperative Extension is the service part of the University of Georgia.

We can thank Senator Hoke Smith from Georgia and Representative Ashbury Lever from South Carolina for their creativity and work to bring a new kind of “teacher” – a County Extension Agent – to each county in our state.

As a result of the legislation, the Boys Corn Club and the Girls Tomato Canning Clubs came together to form the first 4-H club. The Smith-Lever Act affords someone representing the University of Georgia College of Agricultural and Environmental Science Cooperative Extension to bring 4-H education programs to your school.

Just like Mr. Adams used information from the university to help his students learn, we will be doing that too.

Georgia 4-H has expanded and grown since our beginnings more than one hundred years ago. We have many learning opportunities and projects with agricultural and science topics, and we also have opportunities in other areas like the environment, citizenship, leadership, family and consumer science, and, of course, communication!

1. Who is credited with starting the Boys Corn Clubs that later became Georgia 4-H?

2. What do you think it means to increase yield in a crop? Why would that be important for a farmer?

3. If the Smith-Lever Act was passed by Congress in 1914, how long has this legislation be in existence?

4. Explain why the Smith-Lever Act was an important piece of legislation.

Slogan

The 4-H Pledge

A pledge is a promise. The 4-H pledge was written in 1927 by Otis Hall from Kansas. Even though 4-H has changed since then, the pledge still stands as a commitment for 4-H’ers to do their best. 4-H leaders often have you say the pledge at 4-H meetings, events and activities. Learn the pledge and say it with pride!

I pledge
my Head to clearer thinking
my Heart to greater loyalty
my Hands to larger service and my Health to better living for my club, my community,
my country and my world.

SPOTLIGHT ON CAREERS

Did you know that County Extension Agents and Staff are considered careers in Government and Public Administration? Government & Public Administration careers include jobs at every level of government from local to state to national. Senator Hoke Smith and Representative Ashbury Lever made a significant contribution to our country when they developed the legislation to create the Cooperative Extension Service. These Cooperative Extension workers are part of local, state and federal government and work to bring the knowledge and practical application of the research from the University of Georgia to your community.

What other careers can you name that are part of county, state, or federal government?

Meet Venya Gunjal from Cobb County:

1. How Did You Become Interested in Georgia 4-H? My 4-H endeavors began in fifth grade year when my county’s program assistant visited my class to share about 4-H and the project achievement program. An overnight trip to the largest 4-H center in the world, Rock Eagle, sounded like so much fun! To add to my excitement, getting to talk about any topic I wanted for the public speaking contest made it even better! The fun, engaging, and unique experience I had at Project Achievement that year sparked my interest in 4-H. This spark continues for me today as I serve as State 4-H President.

2. Beyond your initial interest in 4-H, what hooked you on Georgia 4-H? Discovering Cobb’s County Council meetings (a leadership meeting for middle and high school youth) hooked me on Georgia 4-H! Attending those monthly meetings helped me meet friends I am still close to today, and with whom I have grown in the Georgia 4-H program. County Council also gave me my first taste of leadership as I was elected to the officer team during my sixth grade year. The kind 4-H staff and supportive community of friends and adults made me realize that 4-H was something I wanted to stay in my life beyond project achievement!

3. What advice do you have for any fourth or fifth grader reading this Friends magazine about the opportunity to be in 4-H? The one piece of advice I have for you is this: no matter what, Georgia 4-H will definitely have something for you. If you are looking for a place to cultivate your interests, a community of people who share your passion, a way to give back to the community, a place to develop leadership skills, a group of lifelong friends, or a home away from home - the diversity of the Georgia 4-H program ensures that there is something for you.

4. What are your future plans? I aspire to make a positive difference in the lives of as many people as I can. After graduating high school, I plan to attend an accredited university to pursue a Doctorate in Biomedical Engineering. With this degree, I hope to become a professor to teach others about a field of study I love so much.

5. How did 4-H equip you to follow your dreams as you pursue your future plans? 4-H was the organization that helped me discover my love for STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math) and gave so many experiences and opportunities that have changed my life. It is the reason I have developed skills like leadership, creative thinking, public speaking, and teamwork. In fact, I can say with certainty that I am the person I am today because of the beautiful Georgia 4-H program. The uplifting mindset and endless love for others that members and staff within this organization have will never cease to amaze me. This community of people is why I feel confident in pursuing my dreams and goals. I am beyond grateful to be part of an organization that I believe is one of the best in the world.

Meet Willie White from Pierce County:

1. How did you become interested in Georgia 4-H? It all started when my county agent walked in the door of my fifth grade classroom and introduced a club I never heard of. As he was talking, I learned about the opportunities that 4-H provided for students with many different interests and this instantly attracted me to not only join but to also be heavily involved with this organization.

2. Beyond your initial interest in 4-H, what hooked you on Georgia 4-H? The more I continued to involve myself with 4-H, the more I discovered the impact of the organization. As I participated in activities, engaged in community service, and built meaningful connections, I found that I was learning more about myself and the aspirations I had for my future. As each year went passed, I fell more and more in love with 4-H and the values that it upholds. Its consistency in creating leaders for the future and developing the young minds of 4-Hers kept me hooked on Georgia 4-H even to this very day.

3. What advice do you have for any fourth or fifth grader reading this Friends magazine about the opportunity to be in 4-H? Explore every single opportunity. 4-H has so many activities for its members to participate in and engage in, and it would pretty much be a crime if you did not at least try everything that 4-H has to offer. Also, treasure every single moment you have in 4-H because those experiences will shape you into an individual with morals, values, and skills that will lead to a successful future.

4. What are your future plans? I will be attending Howard University in the fall where I plan to major in Political Science and Theatre Arts with a concentration in Acting. I hope to use my experiences to fuel my journey to becoming a politician with aspirations to eliminate corruption in government leadership and advocate for compromise and collaboration when handling controversial issues.

5. How did 4-H equip you to follow your dreams as you pursue your future plans? There were many times in my life when I was not sure of the path that I wanted to take, and I was not sure if I had the potential to succeed beyond the limitations that I placed on myself. Fortunately, 4-H helped me realize that I needed to stop being a chicken and start soaring like an eagle. The only barriers that were blocking me from succeeding were my own mind and 4-H helped me spread my wings and recognize my own potential. Now, I plan to use those wings to soar to new horizons.
